SAS to end Hong Kong operations

The SAS Hong Kong route has not been attracting enough passengers. In October 2018 the route was moved from Stockholm to Copenhagen to offer travelers a more attractive timetable. Despite these alterations, the demand has not met our expectations.

With the current situation, where demand for air travel is non-existent due to the global COVID-19 outbreak, SAS has decided to suspend its Hong Kong route. SAS will continue to fly from Shanghai and Beijing, as soon as the situation allows.
