

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS TO BELGIUM

The Belgium authorities have introduced requirements for passengers arriving in the country. Kindly see more about these requirements and related links to acquire more information.

25.09.2020

First published on 31 July 2020

- You are required to complete an online Passenger Locator Form (PLF) prior to travel. If you are staying in Belgium below 48 hours, you are not required to complete the form.
- The form can be completed earliest 48 hours before your journey to Belgium here.
- After filling the form, you will receive a health QR-code. You need to show this QR-code (paper print or mobile screenshot) to the airline representative at the time of boarding and to the authorities at the airport when entering Belgium.

If your travel plans change due to the travel restrictions, please check your options here.

Please note:

Entry restrictions might be subject to change on short notice.

All customers are responsible for ensuring that they are allowed entry into the country they are travelling from, to or are in transit through.

Latest entry restrictions can be found via the IATA website and appropriate consulate or embassy.