COVID19 and International Travel Requirements

Update: 11/13/2020

Issued: November 13, 2020

Many countries now require passengers entering from the United States to provide personal health information or COVID-19 test results before traveling. American Airlines team members at the airport are required to verify that customers have proper documentation prior to boarding their flight, which has resulted in longer wait times at the airport.

As American restarts service to more international destinations, we want to help inform customers of resources available to help verify all of the documentation needed prior to travel. Our online travel tool, powered by Sherpa, will help you and your travelers quickly see the current coronavirus (COVID-19) travel guidelines for your destination.
Information provided may include:

- Entry / transit restrictions

- Passport / visa information

- Quarantine information

- COVID-19 testing requirements (which test is required):

  o Polymerase Chain Reaction (PCR)

  o Other Nucleic Acid Amplification Test (NAAT) such as NEAR or LAMP Test

  o Antigen Test (Rapid)

  o Blood, antibody or serology test

- Travel insurance requirements

- Face covering requirements

Customers should also be aware of baggage allowances and limitations for their destination in order to ensure a more seamless check-in experience.

We value your partnership and look forward to welcoming you on board when the time is right.
