(1) It should be a special container for small animal, which must be made of strong materials and fixed on the top. At least three sides must be ventilated. The door of the small animal container must have a locking device and be made of solid metal. It can effectively prevent small animals from opening the door and escaping by themselves (see Figure-1).

Figure-1

(2) The vent of the small animal container should be made of metal and firmly installed on the container (see Figure-2). If the vent is of non-metallic material, it must be a round or other shape vent. The container vents should be located at the top third of the other three sides of the container packaging box except the door, all openings should be able to prevent small animals' noses or claws from sticking out.

(3) All accessories (including nuts, latches, rivets and locks, etc.) of the small animal container must be firm and perform well.

(4) Small animal containers should be equipped with raised edges or handles so that normal handling can be carried out during the sorting and loading and unloading process.

(5) The bottom of the small animal container is stable and can be fixed on a flat surface without sliding. If you choose a small animal box with wheels, you need to fix or remove the wheels in advance to ensure that the small animal box does not slip during transportation.

(6) The size of the small animal container must comply with the Live Animal Regulations of the International Air Transport Association, and ensure that the space of the small animal box should be large enough. The small animal can stand freely in the box or sit down, turn around and lie down in a normal posture (see Figure- 3).

①Size description: A: the length from the tip of the nose to the base of the tail; B: the height from the elbow to the ground; C: the maximum width of the small animal; D: from the ground to the tip of the ear or the top of the head, the ears of the small animal should not touch the top of the box when standing naturally.

②Small animal box size:

Length = A + 0.5B

Width = C x 2

Height = D

(7) Ensure air circulation, so as not to suffocate small animals.

(8) The container floor should be solid to prevent feces from leaking, so as not to contaminate the aircraft, aircraft equipment and other items. The inside of the small animal box must be covered with absorbent pads. Do not use items containing toxic substances (such as newspapers, etc.) for absorbent pads.

(9) Each small animal container can only contain one small animal.

(10) Long-distance routes (over 6 hours) must be equipped with small animal drinking fountains.

c) Properly pack small animal containers, the specific requirements are as follows:

(1) Both sides of the locking device must be reinforced with self-locking nylon cable ties (see Figure-4), and it is advisable to fasten it. It is recommended that the width and length of the cable tie be above 3.6x100mm (see Figure-5).

(2) A nylon protective net must be used after the container locking device is fastened tightly. The mesh hole size of the net sleeve should be based on the fact that the animal's head cannot be out, and the rope diameter should be more than 2mm; the protective net must be tied firmly, and the position of the tie should avoid the pet box door, and it will not affect the stable placement of the pet box. It must be ensured that the protective net is not damaged when accepting it.

(3) It must be packed and reinforced with strapping after the container uses the protective net. Medium-sized box (the size is greater than or equal to 81×55×58cm, and smaller than 91×60×66cm is a medium-sized box) The top and bottom of each side are tied at least 2 turns horizontally and vertically, in a "井" shape. Large box (the size is greater than or equal to 91×60×66cm) The top and bottom sides should be tied at least 3 turns horizontally and vertically on each side, and the packing straps are evenly distributed. In order to avoid disturbing small animals by turning over the pet box when packing, the sides of the box body are not packed horizontally, and the packing belts on the sides must be in a vertical parallel state. It is required to pass the packing belt through the box door grid and the protective grid when packing, extend from one grid, and extend from the next grid, evenly spaced, so as to fix the box door, the box body, and the protective net together. At the same time, use a self-locking nylon cable tie to fix the packing strap and the pet cage door (see Figure-6).

Figure-6

(4) The sum of the three sides of the professional small animal container shall not exceed 203cm, and the outside of the scope cannot be transported as baggage. Passengers can be advised to handle the air transportation of small animals through the cargo channel.

d) The following small animal container styles are not allowed to handle small animal

(1) A small animal box completely welded by wire mesh (see Figure -7).

Figure -7

(2) The door of the small animal box is made of plastic or glass fiber (see Figure-8).

Figure-8

(3) Combined small animal box (see Figure-9).

Figure-9

(4) There are doors or vents above the small animal box (see Figure-10).

Figure-10

(5) Foldable portable small animal box (see Figure-11).

Figure-11

(6) The container for small animals is made of soft material or its ventilation grille is made of soft plastic (judgment method: when pressed by hand, the pressed part of the box or grille is obviously concave or deformed).

3.4 In one of the following situations, the transportation of small animals will be refused:

- a) When it is not suitable to transport small animals in the cargo compartment of a long-distance flight (domestic flights are not long-distance flights), a flight that does not land midway, or a certain aircraft type.

e) Flat-nosed dogs and flat-nosed cats.

f) Pitbull: Pitbull, Tosa, Brazilian Feller and its crossbreeds, Argentine Dogo.

g) Dog breeds that are not suitable for high temperature and high altitude environment: Samoyed.

h) At any waypoint during the transportation of small animals, the forecast temperature will be below minus 12 degrees Celsius (inclusive) or above 30 degrees Celsius (inclusive) (air temperature conditions play a great role in the safe transportation of small animals, for the safety of passengers' pets, small animals are not accepted for checked in under such circumstances). The source standards of temperature information are as follows:

(1) For domestic departure flights, the temperature information is based on the temperature forecast information on the day of the passenger's flight published by China Meteorological Network on the day the passenger submits the application. The query website:

<http://www.cma.gov.cn/>

(2) For overseas departure flights, the temperature information is subject to the temperature information inquired on the website of the local meteorological agency

(3) In case of special weather conditions, the transportation temperature of small animals is subject to the highest or lowest temperature on the actual day of transportation

3.5 Other rules

a) SDA may refuse to carry small animals that do not meet the transportation conditions. If the passenger gives up the check-in of small animals, the check-in procedures for the passenger continues according to the normal procedures; if the passenger requests to change the flight, it should be handled in accordance with the relevant provisions of voluntary change. If the passenger has gone through the application procedures, but the small animals cannot be transported on the same plane due to SDA reasons, the passenger can go through the endorsement procedures in accordance with the relevant provisions of involuntary changes.

b) Passengers shall bear full responsibility for the small animals checked in. SDA assumes no responsibility for injuries, illnesses, escapes and deaths of small animals under normal transportation conditions. Unless the occurrence of the above situation is caused by SDA or its agent, SDA shall bear the responsibility.
